

Future

by Shelby Mack

The days seem bright, ready to live life the way I want.

Ready to not be told what's wrong and what's right.

Ready to start my dream job whether it's a "girl's job" or not.

Work on cars, truck, vans and even planes.

Turning a wrench for days upon days.

Working hard for my family and my future.

Whether it's the life we live or the life we want to live.

So ready for the "adult" life everyone says is so hard.

Ready for the obstacles that come my way.

I'm ready for the life when I can make my own decisions.

Where I can chose where I go and how I live.

Make mistakes and keep going.

Whether it's college, career, or military.

Even traveling the world for a year or two.

It's my future and I get to do what I want.

I'm going to live life to the fullest, like you should!
